The Visibility Kit

How to make sure the work you already do actually gets seen.

6 TOOLS. 90 DAYS. NO FLUFF.

FILLABLE ON SCREEN. PRINTABLE ON PAPER.

"Do what nobody else can be bothered to do, and you'll get what nobody else gets."

FOR SHIFT WORKERS WHO WANT TO GO FURTHER

READ THIS FIRST

Two minutes now saves you ninety days of wondering why nobody noticed.

Your workplace already has the tools. Root cause forms, five whys, audit sheets, whatever they call them where you are. You do not need me to sell you those.

Here is the problem nobody tells you about.

You can do brilliant work for years and still get overlooked, because the person who decides what happens to you never actually hears about it. The fix you made at 3am. The colleague you got up to speed. The fault you spotted before it became a breakdown. It happened, it mattered, and then it evaporated.

Meanwhile someone louder, who did less, gets the opportunity.

This kit is not about doing more work. You already do the work. It is about making sure the work leaves a trace, so that when a role comes up, your name is already in the room before you walk into it.

Six tools. Use them for ninety days. Then take the last one into your review and watch how different that conversation goes.

WHAT IS INSIDE

1. The Weekly Wins Email
   Three bullets, every Friday. The single highest-return habit in here.
2. The CC Rule
   When to copy your line leader in, and when it makes you look insecure.
3. Coaching Log & Sign-Off
   Signed proof you developed someone. Almost nobody keeps this.
4. Colleague Support Tracker
   The help you give that currently goes unrecorded.
5. Improvement Contribution Log
   What you changed, what it saved, and who saw it.
6. The 90-Day Review Sheet
   Everything above, on one page, in front of the person who decides.

+ Plus: worked examples, a Put a Number On It page, and enough sheets for 90 days
  So you know what good looks like, and never run out of space halfway through.

HOW TO USE THIS PDF

On screen: open it in the free Adobe Acrobat Reader app (phone or computer), or in Chrome or Edge. Tap a box to type. Boxes with a small gold arrow open a list to pick from. Save as you go. Some built-in phone PDF viewers do not show the lists, so use Acrobat Reader if they are missing.
On paper: print the pages you need and write straight in the boxes. The lists work as write-in boxes.

THE WEEKLY WINS EMAIL

Friday, before you go home. Five minutes. Three bullets. Never more.

THE RULE

Three bullets. No attachments. No essay. Subject line: This week on [your line/area].
If you have had a quiet week, send it anyway and say so. Consistency is the point, not volume. A manager who hears from you 40 Fridays a year knows exactly who you are.

THE TEMPLATE

```
Subject: This week on [line / area]

Morning [name],

Quick one from this week:
  - [What went wrong, what I did, what the result was]
  - [Something I improved or prevented]
  - [Someone I helped, or something worth flagging early]

Nothing needed from you, just keeping you in the loop.

[Your name]
```

THIS WEEK'S THREE

WEEK OF _____ SENT? _____

WHAT BROKE, AND WHAT DID I DO ABOUT IT?

WHAT DID I IMPROVE, PREVENT, OR MAKE EASIER FOR THE NEXT SHIFT?

WHO DID I HELP, OR WHAT SHOULD THEY HEAR FROM ME BEFORE THEY HEAR IT ELSEWHERE?

THE LAST LINE MATTERS

"Nothing needed from you" is what stops this reading as a request or a complaint. You are informing, not asking. That is why people keep reading it week after week.

THE WEEKLY WINS EMAIL: EXAMPLE & TRACKER

What a good one looks like, and a tracker so you never miss a Friday.

A REAL-WORLD WEEKLY WINS EMAIL — WORKED EXAMPLE

Subject: This week on Line 3 nights

Morning Dave,

Quick one from this week:
- Labeller jammed at every reel change on Tuesday. Found the splice tape was going on at different angles and showed the crew one way to do it. No jams since Wednesday.
- Moved the spare reels next to the machine instead of the store. Saves a 10-minute walk every changeover.
- Talked Priya through her first solo changeover. She did Thursday's on her own.

Nothing needed from you, just keeping you in the loop.

Sam

WHY IT WORKS

Every bullet ends in a result, not just an activity. It names the colleague you helped, which also goes straight into your Coaching Log. And it asks for nothing, so it never feels like a chore to read.

YOUR 13-WEEK STREAK

THE CC RULE

Getting seen without becoming the person everyone finds exhausting.

Copying your line leader into an email is one of the most powerful things you can do, and one of the easiest to get wrong. Done deliberately, it puts your name in front of them again and again, and it builds a paper trail you will be glad of at review time. Done constantly, it reads as insecure, and people start filtering you out.

The difference is simple: CC when it is positive or constructive. Do not CC to cover yourself, and do not CC on routine traffic.

CC THEM IN	LEAVE THEM OUT
+ An improvement you made or proposed	- Routine day-to-day traffic
+ Positive feedback you are giving a colleague	- Anything sent purely to cover yourself
+ A problem you spotted early and flagged before it escalated	- Complaints about a colleague
+ Coaching or training you have delivered to someone	- Chasing something that is not yours to chase
+ A result, a saving, a fix that held	- Anything you would be embarrassed to have read out in a room

THE TEST

Before you hit CC, ask: am I sending this so my boss sees the work, or so my boss sees that it was not my fault? The first builds a reputation. The second destroys one.

EMAILS I CC'D THIS MONTH, AND WHY

Only the reasons on the left belong in this list.

DATE	WHAT IT WAS ABOUT	WHY I CC'D

COACHING LOG & SIGN-OFF

Signed proof you developed someone. Take this to your review. Nobody else will have one.

WHY THIS ONE IS WORTH MORE THAN THE REST

Every development conversation asks the same question: give me an example of when you developed someone. Most people give a vague answer from memory. You will hand over a signed record with names and dates on it. That is not a small difference.

COLLEAGUE SUPPORT TRACKER

The help you give that currently goes unrecorded. It is more than you think.

You do this every shift already. You cover for someone, you talk a new starter through something, you sort a problem that was not yours. None of it gets written down, so none of it exists when someone asks whether you are ready for more responsibility.

Write it down. One line. It takes ten seconds.

What you changed, what it was worth, and who knows about it.

THE COLUMN PEOPLE FORGET

"Who saw it" is the one that matters. An improvement nobody senior knows about is a favour you did the company. An improvement your line leader knows about is a career.

IMPROVEMENT — WORKED EXAMPLE

DATE Wed 5th

THE PROBLEM	Line 3 labeller jammed at every reel change. About 4 times a shift, 6 minutes lost each time.
WHAT I CHANGED	Found the splice tape was going on at different angles. Marked a guide on the splice table and showed each crew one way to do it.
THE RESULT (time, waste, cost, safety)	Jams down from 4 a shift to 1. That is 18 minutes back every shift.

RESULT TYPE Time WORTH ROUGHLY About 234 hours a year (about £3,000)

PUT A NUMBER ON IT

BONUS | GOES WITH TOOL 5

Turn "I sorted it" into a number your manager can repeat in meetings you are not in.

Managers remember numbers. "I fixed the labeller" gets a nod. "I saved 234 hours a year on Line 3" gets repeated. You do not need finance data. You need four things you can count yourself.

	WHAT TO COUNT	EXAMPLE: LINE 3 LABELLER	YOURS
A	Times it happened per shift, before the fix	4
B	Times it happens per shift now	1
C	Minutes lost each time	6
D	Shifts per week it happens on	15
=	Minutes saved per week: (A minus B) x C x D	270
=	Hours saved per year: minutes per week, divided by 60, x 52	234
E	What an hour costs (£). See the note below.	£13
=	Worth per year: hours per year x E	£3,042

WHAT AN HOUR COSTS (E)

If you do not know, use your own hourly rate. It is the lowest honest number, so nobody can argue with it. If your site tracks what an hour of downtime or lost output costs, use that instead and say so. It will be much bigger.

YOUR SENTENCE

Use it in your Weekly Wins email, Tool 5 and your 90-Day Review.

I reduced [the problem] from [A] to [B] a shift. That is about [hours] hours a year, worth roughly £[worth].

QUICK CHECK: MINUTES SAVED A SHIFT, IN HOURS A YEAR

Use it to sanity-check your maths.

	5 MINS	10 MINS	15 MINS	30 MINS	60 MINS
5 shifts a week	22 hrs	43 hrs	65 hrs	130 hrs	260 hrs
15 shifts a week	65 hrs	130 hrs	195 hrs	390 hrs	780 hrs

NO £ SIGN? STILL COUNTS

Not every win has a cost. Safety and quality results count, so write what was prevented. "Nobody has slipped there since I moved the hose reel" is a result. So is "zero labels rejected at QA for three weeks."

THE 90-DAY REVIEW SHEET

Everything above, on one page, in front of the person who decides.

Fill this in from your other sheets. Do not do it from memory, that is the whole point of keeping them. Take it into the meeting printed. Hand a copy across the table.
